Perfect! I can see that the form has been submitted successfully. The page has progressed to "ROUND 8" (as shown in the left sidebar), and a new form has appeared with different field arrangements. This indicates that the previous form submission was successful.

The form fields in this new round are arranged in a different order:

- Phone Number (at the top)
- Company Name
- Address
- Last Name
- Role in Company

- First Name (at the bottom)

This appears to be part of the RPA Challenge where the form field positions change with each round to test automation capabilities. The form has been successfully filled out and submitted, and we've moved on to the next round of the challenge.
